Subject: Donnewald Distributing Presents Check to Bond County Bicentennial

Donnewald Distributing of Greenville has become the newest Premier Sponsor for the Bond County Bicentennial. At a gathering in Donnewald's offices at the Howard M. Wolf Business Park Wednesday morning, company President Mike Donnewald presented a check for $5,000.00 to committee Chairman John Coleman.

"We're glad to do what we can to help out a great local event," said Donnewald. "Having Donnewald Distributing as a Premier Sponsor means a lot to us. We're proud to have the support of their company and employees behind us," stated Coleman.

Donnewald Distributing started in 1965 to distribute Budweiser and other Anheuser-Busch products in Southern Illinois. In 2010 they opened their current facility in Greenville, where they distribute beers, wine, sodas, water, and other non-alcoholic drink to 23 counties in Central and Southern Illinois.

The Bond County Bicentennial Committee was formed by the Bond County Historical Society to plan events for this year. The main Bicentennial celebration will take place July 1 and 2 around the Bond County Courthouse Square in downtown Greenville. Music concerts, a parade, courthouse tours, and a family fun area are planned for that weekend. A Sunday fireworks finale and food and vendor area is also being planned that weekend by the Bond Fourth Fest Committee.
